He visited me and discussed my need for a new boiler and sat and patiently explained how the combi boiler worked and how they would install it. A quote was promptly received and I was able to query a couple of things with him. The installation was carried out within a couple of weeks after we got back from holiday. Andy, Brett and Graham arrived on time and they again detailed what and how they would install the new boiler and TRVs. The work went smoothly and the lads were polite and pleasant to have working in the house. Andy explained how to operate the boiler controls and then returned after the weekend to balance the system and to check that everything was ok. They took care to ensure that they left the house clean and tidy every evening. Graham brought the paperwork a couple of days later and went over one or two things that would need adjusting as the colder weather approached. I was again able to ask questions of him and at no time did I feel uncomfortable about doing this. He again stressed that their backup service was available 24/7 should there be any issues with the system. Would definitely recommend this company!
