The Victorians and Edwardians flocked to the music hall to see the stars and entertainers of the day – the likes of Vesta Tilley, Marie Lloyd and Harry Champion.

Bath G&S Society pays a tantalising tribute to this great British institution and its performers, presenting an evening of songs, comedy and variety from the period. With consummate competence our exuberantly eloquent Chair will guide you through proceedings and raucous renditions of those timeless sing-a-long classics – “My Old Man”, “Daisy, Daisy”, and “Any Old Iron” are guaranteed!

So why not sweep away those winter blues and snap up a ticket for an evening of mirth, merriment and mayhem.

‘... a close-knit group of performers that was well disciplined, supportive of each other and totally dedicated to their craft’.
