How the Model Works

A practical explanation of how we support local businesses.

1

It is a collective support model

We do not divide work into rigid timesheets for each business. We invest in the platform as a whole, then create more visibility opportunities for higher-tier members within it.

2

You can be hands-off or proactive

Some members leave it to us. Others send articles, events and updates. The more helpful material you bring, the more value you can unlock at no extra cost.

3

No long contracts

We recommend giving it time, but members are not tied into a 12-month contract. It is easy to upgrade, easy to step back and easy to leave with one month's notice.

4

Why we do not provide detailed monthly reports

Detailed reporting takes time away from practical marketing. We focus on visible opportunities, useful content and measurable activity where it matters.

5

Why we limit the number of businesses we work with

A balanced membership helps us make stronger recommendations and protects visibility for the businesses already with us.

6

Why the package names sound familiar

We use simple names businesses already recognise rather than inventing jargon to make our support sound more complicated than it is.

You don't need to know which package you need before we talk.

If you are unsure where to begin, a conversation is usually the best starting point.

Not Sure Where to Start?

Let's talk it through.

A free Business MOT or phone chat can help you work out what support makes sense for your business.

No pressure. No jargon. Just a practical conversation about your business, your goals and what could work best.
