

Special Event:

Memorial Stone unveiling 28 April 2026

This year's ceremony features the unveiling of the newly commissioned Workers' Memorial Day Stone.

After 34 years, the original plaque has become difficult to see and its mounting rotted.

Following discussions with the City Council, this new, prominent memorial will be placed in front of the Workers' Memorial Day Tree.

It will be dedicated to the workers of Wolverhampton and Bilston, who have been killed, disabled, injured or made unwell by their work. Funded by local trade unionists.

Wages are paid in exchange for your labour, not your health. Yet every day 6,000 workers die worldwide as a result of work related accidents and diseases.

Health and safety improvements have come about only because of pressure to improve standards. Trade Unions and the Safety Reps they elect and train, have played a key part in these changes and continue to campaign to safeguard workers.
