

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million (from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1999) and the number of people in the private sector has increased by 1.5 million (from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1999) (Department of Health 2000).

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Care Act 1999, which aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. The Act also aims to improve the efficiency of the public sector and to ensure that it is able to provide the best possible value for money.

The Health Care Act 1999 also aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Care Act 1999, which aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population.

The Health Care Act 1999 also aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Care Act 1999, which aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population.

The Health Care Act 1999 also aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Care Act 1999, which aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population.

The Health Care Act 1999 also aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Care Act 1999, which aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population.

The Health Care Act 1999 also aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Care Act 1999, which aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population.

The Health Care Act 1999 also aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Care Act 1999, which aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population.

The Health Care Act 1999 also aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Care Act 1999, which aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population.

The Health Care Act 1999 also aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Care Act 1999, which aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population.

The Health Care Act 1999 also aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Care Act 1999, which aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population.

The Health Care Act 1999 also aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Care Act 1999, which aims to improve the quality of care and to ensure that the public sector is able to meet the needs of the population.

thebestof

Richards Plants Own-Grown Bargains

Offer Expiry Date
31/08/2025

Can only be used at
Richards Plants Nursery and Garden Centre
Back Lane, Desborough, Kettering,
Northamptonshire
NN14 2SH.

Tel: 01536 764255

Description/Terms and Conditions

Today we've brought out an exciting collection of our own-grown herbaceous perennials and annuals from our nursery tunnels.

Grown in 9/10cm pots, we have around 30 varieties, over 700 plants including:-

- ?? Scabiosa
- ?? Gaura
- ?? Rudbeckia
- ?? Verbena
- ?? Hollyhocks
- ?? Cosmos
- ?? Aquilegia
- ?? Geum
- ?? Evening Primrose
- ?? Larkspur
- ?? Spanish Daisy
- ?? Coreopsis and many others.

We've taken images of the plants that are in flower now and added stock pictures of some of them yet to flower.

These are all young plants which are ideal for potting up and growing on and are just £2.50 each - which is a bargain by itself - but we're offering FIVE plants for £10.

We're very proud to say that these have all been grown in our nursery.

There's some unusual varieties here, and they're either in flower now or will be flowering later in the summer.

You'd be mad to miss out ??

?? All at Richard's Plants

This voucher has no cash alternative and is not transferable. It cannot be used in conjunction with any other offer or promotion. Photocopies will not be accepted. Rights are reserved to refuse custom and withdraw this offer at any time.

