Description/Terms and Conditions

A free 60-minute discovery session

One hour to look at one task. No pitch, no upsell. Just a clear conversation about whether automation is the right move for your business.

What we'll cover:

1. How the task works now - and where it breaks

We'll map the current process, spot the friction points, and identify what's eating your time or causing errors.

2. What a realistic automated version looks like - No magic, no black boxes. We'll talk through what could be automated, what should stay manual, and what tools would be needed.

3. Whether the time and cost investment makes commercial senseNot every task is worth automating. We'll run the numbers and tell you straight whether this is a good use of your money.

This session is for business owners or decision-makers based in the UK who already have a specific time-eating task in mind.
