Description/Terms and Conditions

Brake Fluid is an important, but sometimes overlooked aspect of vehicle maintenance. Brake fluid is hygroscopic, meaning that it naturally absorbs water from the atmosphere, and over a period of time, that moisture becomes a problem for a number of reasons, but two very important ones are that the moisture can induce corrosion inside the components of the brake system, which can cause premature wear and failure. Secondly, having water in the brake fluid can significantly reduce its boiling point and under arduous braking can cause brake fade and a loss of pedal. The solution - Have your vehicles brake fluid replaced at the correct manufacturers interval, or earlier if the vehicle is used under arduous conditions. The great news is that Jaybee can do this on any vehicle that uses regular brake fluid for just £40 inclusive.
