Fantastic Foxgloves

Fresh in today is this absolutely stunning foxglove called Panther (Pink Panther).

Unlike other foxgloves, this variety is a clump-forming, compact (60cm tall x 45cm) and multi branching perennial, meaning it will come back every year.

The Panther will have multiple spires of pink bell-shaped flowers with speckled throats, and they're absolutely delightful

They will also flower continuously from June to September and are highly attractive to bees and butterflies. We have only 25 available which are all about at full-height and just about to flower.

We've seen these elsewhere in 3 litre pots at the exorbitant price of £29.99, but we have them available in big 5 litre pots, chunky plants, for just £10 each!

Good news for you and the bees! All at Richard's Plants
